A CONNUBIAL QUARREL.

Two English Birds That Acted in a Singularly Humorous Way
In the yard of a Scranton bird student a pair of English sparrows began a few weeks ago to get ready to go to house-keeping. They took up their abode in a little box that was fastened to the top of a pole. Other sparrows undertook to occupy the box, but the pugnacious first comers drove them away, and from that time on the plucky pair fixed up their household and got every thing in readiness to raise a family without being disturbed by their apparently envious neighbors.
When the industrious birds were nearly ready to settle down to a quiet married life, an accident happened that caused a row between the pair. One day before the female had begun to sit, her husband flitted away and was gone a good deal longer than usual. During his absence the female busied herself by flying from the nest to the yard and back, adding finishing touches to her household and sprucing things up inside of the box. By and by Mr. Sparrow returned, but he didn't look as neat and natty as he did when he sailed away. In some way he had lost all of his tail feathers while he was gone, and his wife wouldn't have any thing to do with him or let him enter the house. He seemed to try to explain matters to her, but she wouldn't listen to him at all, elbowed at him spitefully, and fought him when ever he attempted to approach her.
The student knew that the bobtailed bird was the rightful husband by a peculiar mark on his head, and he watched the result of the family trouble with deep interest. For two days the unhappy husband craved and begged his wife to treat him as she had formerly done, but his pleadings made her all the more determined to get rid of him for good. All at once the bobtailed sparrow disappeared, and has never been seen around there since. The female continued to occupy the box, and inside of three days she got another husband, set up housekeeping anew, and in due time hatched out a nest full of little ones.—N. Y. Sun.

PERUVIAN COURTSHIP.

It is Exceedingly Proper in Every Respect But Very Expensive.
Peruvian young ladies marry at four, five, and, like their sisters in the United States, they look with favorable eyes upon a young man who has wealth. If a young man sees a girl who pleases him, he haunts the street where she lives, and if he finds her on the balcony, where she spends half her time, he raises his hat and bows to her.
If she smiles in return, he sees that his advances are accepted and then he applies to her father for an introduction. Even if the father consents he never can meet the young lady alone, but always in the presence of the family.
If he invites her to a concert or theater, he must always invite her mother and all the female members of the family. During the courtship the couple are never left alone, and frequently the father or mother orders the daughter to retire, when the young man has remained long enough.
Every Peruvian must have a god-mother and a godfather who officiate at the baptism, at confirmation and at the marriage. The same persons may act in all the instances, or an entirely different set may be elected.
The marriage must inevitably take place in the church, and the bride must go to confession and partake of the communion before the ceremony. Invitations are issued to the gentlemen friends of the contracting parties, who attend the ceremony at the church and afterward the reception at the house, where the only ladies in attendance are the bride and her female relatives.
Each guest is presented with a solid silver medal, made at the mint, with the name of the bride, bridegroom, god-father, godmother, and the date. The medal is prettily tied with a bow of ribbon. After the wedding congratulatory calls are in order, but the bride makes no calls and remains sequestered for three months.—Chicago Journal.

AMONG THE LAPPS.

Curious Little Habits of These Distinctive Natives of the Far North.
I was taken into one of the Lapp huts, says a writer in an English journal. In the center a wood fire was burning brightly on some stones, and at first the smoke was very unpleasant, but soon one became accustomed to it, and it served the useful purpose of driving away the winged plague, which had followed us all day.
The man proceeded to boil some coffee, which in a few minutes was set before me, together with a wooden bowl of reindeer's milk. The coffee was not very palatable, but under the circumstances worse fare would have proved acceptable. The milk I found to be too thick and rich to drink much of.
A sugar loaf was produced from beneath some cloths in a corner, and a few pieces were clipped off and handed to me. I accepted them with my politest smile, accompanied by a bow; but when I proceeded to sugar my coffee in the orthodox style the action caused much amusement to the juvenile Lapps, who roared with laughter, and appeared to enjoy the fun immensely.
I found that I ought to have eaten the sugar separately, as they did, and they evidently considered my way of sweetening coffee irretrievably funny.
Cakes were then served to each one. These were about the size of a penny loaf, but of the consistency of putty or dough, which they some what resemble in appearance. They were eaten with their hands. No knife was used, and no fork either. The student knew that the bobtailed bird was the rightful husband by a peculiar mark on his head, and he watched the result of the family trouble with deep interest. For two days the unhappy husband craved and begged his wife to treat him as she had formerly done, but his pleadings made her all the more determined to get rid of him for good. All at once the bobtailed sparrow disappeared, and has never been seen around there since. The female continued to occupy the box, and inside of three days she got another husband, set up housekeeping anew, and in due time hatched out a nest full of little ones.—N. Y. Sun.

—Men talk as if victory were something fortunate. Work is victory. Wherever work is done victory is obtained. There is no chance and no blanks.—Emerson.
—That peace is an evil peace that doth shut truth out of doors. If peace and truth can not go together, truth is to be preferred, and rather to be chosen for a companion than peace.—J. Tillson, last.
—Spirit is now a very fashionable word to set with spirit, to speak with spirit, means only to act rashly and to talk indiscreetly. An able man shows his spirit by gentle words and resolute actions; he is neither hot nor timid.—Chesterfield.
—The best way to influence our friends is to understand their character and sympathize with them in their sorrows and rejoice with them in their pleasures. To exert a good influence we must be unselfish for selfishness is an ugly giant that kills every good thought in our heart.—Western Herald.
—It is very foolish to argue that because some ignorant men have made fortunes, education unfit men for business. A large part of a lifetime spent in reclusive study forms a habit that would cripple or kill capacity for trade, but mind trained in youth must always be superior to the untrained.—United Presbyterian.
—"Never quit certainty for hope" is a good provisional axiom, but had it been strictly and invariably acted upon our world still have been in its infancy and the history of discovery, invention and progress still to begin. All the great enterprises, whether in commerce or invention, have been begun and carried on in direct violation of this maxim.—Exchange.
—People say: "You mustn't be hasty; you must not speak under a sudden impulse. Wait awhile." As if you had said to a soldier at Gettysburg: "My dear sir, do not fire so under this sudden impulse. Wait till to-morrow or the day after. Then the air will be clearer, and your nerves more steady and your aim truer." But, after all, the time to fight is when the battle is on.—Dr. Wayland.

SOME OLD STORIES.

Yarns That Were Current in France Nearly Two Centuries Ago.
Not so long ago there was a new road made for the lots of a certain country church, and the old road was stored away in the lot of the parsonage. The parson, feeling a desire toward a goose, and a fine fat one, killed, stuffed and spiced, and finally put down to roast. He was a frugal man, and to save fire-wood he dug out the old crucifix and put it on the fire as it was, his conscience forbidding him to break it up. The done, he went off to church, leaving his little nephew to roast the goose—id est, to turn the spit. In course of time the crossbeam of the roof was burned through, and the figure fell down, face foremost, on the goose. The little boy did away in terror and ran into the church, calling out: "Uncle, uncle, that man you put on the fire is eating our goose!"
A poor old countryman was lying on his death-bed, and the priest was telling him of the life to come, that he might not sorrow after the life he was leaving. "After the judgment day," quoth the good priest, "every mountain and hill shall be brought low, and every valley shall be exalted." "Well, well," said the countryman, "that will be a famous land for us poor wagoners."
A certain learned doctor had been preaching in a country church, and was

NAMES OF NEGROES.

The Curious Nomenclature That Is in the Old Plantations
Of course, on every plantation were several negroes of the lot or negroes, and various things, used various and quaint names to distinguish them. Their place there was an "An" Black Liza and an "Pop" and "Ukter" Big Jake, Ukter and Ukter Knuck-knuck were in one family three of them, all possessed of a physical infirmity. The old man had been kicked in the head by a mule and was crazy. He spent his days, and will last and look well for many seasons. To select such goods is the first law of economical dressing. The next in importance is the choice of a rather plain, conservative style and one which will not go out of date for some years. This is easy to do, as fairly straight draperies, plain waists, not too tight coat sleeves, and plain, straight collars are among the standard items in the making of good dresses, and will no doubt continue to remain necessities for a long time to come. Too little importance is attached to having dresses carefully made in order of being, as is often the case, merely hasted together. Garments should be sewed with strong cotton thread, not with silk thread, unless in parts where the stitches are to be seen. It is considered much easier to sew with silk than with cotton, therefore many seamstresses and dress-makers persist in using it despite the fact that the work is much more liable to slip and drag out of place.
With the facts kept constantly in mind that to dress well and economically one must buy good goods of dark or durable colors, select plain, inconspicuous styles, and have them made up with the utmost care as to reliability of workmanship, the average woman may accumulate a moderate stock of really elegant and becoming garments, and will be comparatively free from the vexations and annoyances which ever beset the searcher after novelties and extremes in fashions. Fastidious women are selecting the softest, finest fabrics, many of them so delicate as to be almost transparent.—Fashion Bazar.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

"HON. W. T. ELLIS, of Daviess county, is a Democratic candidate for re-election to Congress, subject to the action of the district primary election Sept. 27."

OPPOSED TO THIRD PARTIES.

"I am unalterably opposed to any third party movement," was Dr. Clardy's reply to the Kentuckian's interrogation concerning his relationship to the Wheeler's Alliance.

"I am a Democrat. The aims of Democracy and Wheelerism are in a great measure identical. Both have in view the relief of the people, including the farming and laboring classes, by reducing taxes upon necessities. Tariff reform is one of the demands of all farmers' organizations and this relief can only come by co-operation with the party opposed to protecting favored classes and monopolies."

Then you would not lend yourself to any movement outside of your party?

"Most assuredly not. I do not know that I shall become a candidate for Governor or for any other office, but if I do it will be as a Democrat, subject to party action. I would of course expect support from the farmers, but as a matter of fact the farmers are the bone and sinew of the Democratic party in Kentucky and they can by combining elect their representatives without disrupting party organization."

"Furthermore the experience of the past shows that there can be but two rival parties in this country. Third parties can never succeed except at the expense of one of the old parties and in this case the very principles for which the Alliance contends are already embodied in the Democratic party. It would be indeed foolish for Democrats to leave their party under such circumstances as this."

The complete novel in Lippincott's Magazine for September is contributed by KENNETH FERRIS WOODS, author of that remarkable book, "Metzger's Shoemaker." Miss Woods, like Mr. Edward Bellamy, has won sudden and wide fame by the advocacy of certain forms of socialism, and this, her latest novel, is directed against the "Sweating System," a system which has been exciting a great deal of antagonism both in America and England, and which stands greatly in need of reform. The story is entitled "The Mark of the Beast," and it is crowded with strong scenes and dramatic situations. It is a story that everybody will want to read. A sketch of Miss Woods, by Hester Crawford Dorsey, appears in the body of the magazine.

In accordance with the act passed by the last Legislature to promote the interests of agriculture, horticulture and statistics in Kentucky, Governor Bryan has appointed the following advisory board: Col. Thomas W. Scott, of Franklin; Dr. J. D. Clardy, of Christian; Hon. T. T. Gardner, of Carlisle; and Prof. M. A. Scoville, chemist of the A. M. College, at Lexington. The board will meet at least four times a year. The members receive no compensation, except their actual expenses.

Capt. Stone, of the First district, has followed the example of Senator Carlisle and come out against the Sub-Treasury scheme advocated by some of the Wheelers. This very foolish proposition now has but few friends amongst thinking men and Capt. Stone being a Wheeler himself is very apt to receive the endorsement of the Wheelers of his district.

The House of Representatives got into a stormy row Tuesday over the attempt of the Republicans to pass the Hog Lard Bill by revolutionary methods. It is rather strange that some of the Southern members did not think to pour a little cotton seed oil on the troubled waters.

Congressman Ellis is speaking in Henderson and Webster counties this week, but has out appointments for this week only, as he does not know how soon he may be called back to Washington. His opponent, Mr. Givens, was invited to meet him at all appointments.

Rodney Haggard, of Clark, failing to get the instructions from his own county, has withdrawn from the Congressional race in the Tenth district. Brooks, of Mt. Sterling, now looks like the winner in the convention to be held at Jackson next week.

Mayor C. D. Jacob, of Louisville, who left home for San Francisco May 15, has completed his trip around the world and returned home this week. He visited Japan, China, Egypt, Europe and England.

Hon. Lewis F. Watson, of Pennsylvania, died very suddenly in Washington Sunday, making the eighth member of the present Congress who has died within less than two years.

MR. PROWSE'S ANSWER.

Mr. John P. Prowse filed his response to the notice of contest from Mr. Wm. Cowan, in the County Clerk's office on the 27th. The paper is very lengthy and is a general denial of all of the propositions laid down in Cowan's petition.

He questions the legality of the Oak Grove vote upon the ground that the officers were not sworn and asks that the precinct be thrown out.

He charges that large numbers of persons were prevented from voting for him and forced to vote for Cowan by threats, intimidation and undue influence at Pembroke, Barker's Mill, Oak Grove, Garrettsburg, Lafayette and Bennettsburg and very indirectly charges that Cowan's friends practiced bribery and corruption. He then proceeds to claim the earth and the fullness thereof and estimates his majority of the "legal voters" at something over 400, instead of five votes as certified.

He attacks votes cast for Cowan upon nine counts as follows: Not registered 51, fraudulently registered July 28th 31, wrongfully registered 73, not naturalized 29, not in district long enough or in wrong district 172, failing to produce certificates 12, minors 17, voted after 7 p. m. 2, recorded but didn't vote 1.

This list was intended to be very formidable, but a very small per cent. of illegal votes will be found amongst them. The non-registered voters are so classed on account of errors in spelling, or in recording initials. For instance W. S. Witty voted as Shipp Witty and his name appears as not registered. The list of fraudulent registrations embraces such voters as J. M. Glass, who was sick in bed in June.

The names of 73 colored men are given who voted the Democratic ticket, who Mr. Prowse claims were recorded wrong. This shows there can be humor even in dry legal documents.

The unnaturalized class includes foreign born Democrats taken at random, who have been naturalized for years. The "out of district" class includes every Democrat who voted on permits and his lawyers evidently intend to raise this new question. This will, however, cut both ways. The other claims are simply quibbles and amount to nothing, the votes of two Democrats at the Court House being challenged because the officers did not vote till the clock struck 7. Mr. Prowse very wisely concludes not to tackle the constitutionality of the Registration law.

Some voters are in two or more of the nine classes and the introduction of the names of so many legal voters into the response indicates that delay is to be the policy of Prowse's attorneys.

MATRIMONIAL.

LIPSCOMB-DADE.

Mr. John F. Lipscomb and Miss Virginia S. Dade were married at the Ninth Street Presbyterian church Tuesday evening, Dr. W. L. Nourse officiating.

The church was handsomely decorated for the happy occasion, and the stand was spanned by a tall arch of evergreens and flowers. From the center of this was suspended a floral bell, underneath which the bridal couple plighted their mutual vows.

At 8:30 o'clock promptly the happy couple arrived and entered the west aisle, to the sweet strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Dr. J. M. Dennis. They were preceded by the four ushers, Messrs. Joubert Henry, Jas. Green, Gabe Campbell and John P. Burnett, who took their positions on either side of the altar. The bride and groom gracefully ascended the steps and paused facing the audience, and in a few appropriate words Dr. Nourse performed the ceremony that linked their destinies for all time to come. The officiating clergyman then congratulated them and they retired from the church by the east aisle, the spectators remaining seated until the bridal party had departed.

Immediately after the wedding a reception was tendered to the bride and groom at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. B. Dade, which was at ended by only the relatives and intimate friends of the wedded couple. On Wednesday evening a similar entertainment was given them at Mr. Randolph Dade's, in the Julian vicinity.

Mr. Lipscomb has for some years filled a responsible position in Metz dry goods store. He is a young man of the best character and excellent attainments and is highly esteemed by all who know him.

His bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. J. B. Dade and is noted for her beauty, amiability and many endearing traits.

The Kentuckian wishes for the young couple a full realization of their fondest hopes of happiness, complete and enduring.

Mr. John W. Twyman, of this city, was married yesterday to Miss Emma Fox, of Lexington, and returned with his bride on the 5 o'clock train. Mr. Twyman is a salesman in Morrill's grocery and has many friends who will extend congratulations.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Jno. F. Lipscomb to Virginia Stuart Dade.
L. D. Rice to Martha A. Jordan.

James Wilson to Martha Mumford.
James Mercer to Kate Campbell.

During the epidemic of flux in this county last summer, I had hard work to keep a supply of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand. People often came ten or twelve miles in the night to get a bottle of the Remedy. I have been selling that medicine for the last ten years and find that it has given better satisfaction in cases of diarrhoea and flux, than any other medicine I have ever handled.

J. H. BENHAM, Druggist, Golconda, Pope Co., Ill. Over five hundred bottles of this Remedy were sold in that county during the epidemic. It was a perfect success and was the only remedy that did cure the worst cases. Dozens of persons there will certify that it saved their lives. In four other epidemics of bowel complaint this Remedy has been equally successful. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Buckner Leavell.

Longmoor's Majority.

Returns have been received at the office of the Secretary of State from 112 counties, giving Longmoor 155,450; Tinsley, 101,434; Mrs. Henry, 4,297. Longmoor's majority over Tinsley, 54,015. The counties yet to report are Bullitt, Campbell, Elliott, Estill, Jackson, Monroe and Perry. These counties in 1888 gave Cleveland 7,445 and Harrison 8,942, and Fisk 110 votes. Estimating the same majority for Tinsley, Longmoor's majority in the whole state will be 52,518. In 1888 the total vote stood: Cleveland 183,800; Harrison 155,866; Fisk 5,225, total vote 344,781. This year the vote will be approximately as follows: Longmoor 162,895; Tinsley 110,176; Henry 4,407, total vote 277,478. Decrease 67,303, of which 21,005 is Democratic, 45,274 Republican and 818 Prohibition.

Mr. John Carpenter, of Goodland, Ind., says: "I tried Chamberlain's Colic, cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, for diarrhoea and cramps and pains in the stomach and bowels with the best results. In the worst cases I never had to give more than the third dose to effect a cure. In most cases one dose will do. Besides it's other good qualities it is pleasant to take." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Buckner Leavell.

To the crank Republicans who threaten to kill the tariff bill if the force bill is not passed, we say that the party can stand up much better without either of these measures than with both of them. It is a case in which the poet's dictum, "It were much better to have both than neither," is reversed.—Globe Democrat.

As a general liniment for sprains and bruises or for rheumatism, lame back, deep seated or muscular pains, Chamberlain's Pain Balm is unrivaled. For sale by Buckner Leavell.

It seems very strange indeed that Ed Glass, who did such hard work for his party during the recent campaign, should be the victim of a six months' lay-off by Collector Feland. The colored people will be long find out that they are only wanted by the Republicans at voting times.

The Senate will vote on the McKinley Tariff Bill on Monday, Sept. 8.

DEATHS.

Mrs. Mollie L. Summers, wife of Mr. W. D. Summers, died at her home four miles from town, at 9 o'clock Wednesday night, Aug. 27, aged about 25 years. She has been ill for about two weeks and was thought to be getting better when she suffered a relapse and passed away. She was formerly Miss Mollie Lacy, of Longview, and was married to Mr. Summers about a year ago.

"York" Shoemaker died in Carlisle Sunday night last, of typhoid fever, at the advanced age of 72 years. "Uncle York," as he was familiarly known, had served as jailer of Trigg county for 24 years—six terms—and was elected to the seventh term at the election held on the 4th inst. He was a man liked by all who knew him, and never had a known enemy.

James Roach died at the home of Mr. R. C. Crenshaw, near Pee Dee, Wednesday morning, of dropsy, aged 30 years. Deceased was a brother of Mr. R. Cook Roach, merchant at Gray. He leaves a wife and one child.

An eleven-months-old child of Geo. Gish died at the home of its grandparents in Crittenden county Monday, of measles. The remains were brought to this city for interment Tuesday.

Mrs. C. C. Gerhart, of Clarksville, formerly Miss Nannie Troutman, of Lexington, Ky., died Monday. She had been married less than two years.

COLORED.

Three-months-old child of Ellen Jones, in the city, Tuesday.

TOOK FRENCH LEAVE.

Four Prisoners Escape From the Work House.

The security of the new work house was put to the test a few nights ago and the result was that four convicts made their escape. They were Bob McRae, Jim Payne and Sam Hatcher, concealed deadly weapons, and Lewis Payne, breach of the peace.

The manner by which the delivery was accomplished is thus described by Mr. Vaughan, the keeper:

"They made their escape by prizing a bar from the eastern window, using a bed slat and a wooden brace to force long that extended from the top of the cell to the roof and was toe-nailed with eight-penny nails. These were the only tools required to spring the bars, as they are only 1/2 of an inch and are set into a wooden sill about one inch deep. All work tools are put out of reach at night, being kept in the coal house, in the absence of a tool house. The prisoners, if they had needed other instruments, could have used table legs, or bench legs from the hall as nothing is securely nailed, and to show the insecurity of the window into which the bars are set, a party took the same piece that was used in prizing out the bar, and with two moderate blows succeeded in removing the whole sill an inch from its original position, and there is no doubt that they can be knocked entirely out of position with but little labor. Besides should the prisoners not have free access to the work room and be confined to their cells, there would be but little trouble to come through the roof, as the cells are covered with 1x6 inch planks nailed with one eight-penny nail."

With such a state of insecurity existing, it is a wonder that prisoners have not escaped before this. The proper authorities should take the necessary steps at once to make this prison thoroughly secure, as it is very important that further escapes be prevented in the future. The keeper can not be blamed for the escape of convicts, unless he be provided with facilities for securing them.

Mr. Vaughan has offered a reward for the capture of the escaped prisoners, who are still at large.

At the Opera House.

Hattie Bernard Chase will open the theatrical season on Sept. 3, with a first class company. On the following night, Sept. 4, Geo. Wilson's Minstrels will give their inimitable burnt cork performance.

To Whom It May Concern.

In the year 1868 I graduated from the Ohio Medical College and practiced regular medicine until four years ago when I became identified with Homoeopathy. But having become satisfied that there is nothing in it, I hereby renounce the so-called system and henceforth pledge myself to practice the regular system of medicine and subscribe to the code of ethics of the American Medical Association.

Home Seekers' Excursion.

On Sept. 9th, 22d and Oct. 14th the L. & N. will sell excursion tickets to points in Arkansas, Texas, Kansas, etc. at one fare for the round trip tickets good 30 days. For tickets and full information apply to

CREAM OF NEWS.

Sent Back to the Work House.

Henry Weston, col., who was sent to the work house in October of last year, for 12 months for petit larceny, was paroled about a month ago on account of good behavior. Last Monday he was re-arrested, tried for disorderly and strange conduct, and was returned to the work house to serve out the two months which had been deducted from the original sentence.

Revenue Assignments.

The Collector of Internal Revenue made the regular 60-day assignments Wednesday. A good many of the Christian county contingent are left out, the following being those fortunate enough to get in out of the wet:

T. H. Major to J. W. M. Field, No. 3. H. A. Moore to S. M. Dist. Co., No. 17. J. E. Meacham to Rich Grain Dist. Co., No. 6, withdrawals.

Jno. W. Postell, col., to C. L. Applegate & Co., No. 7.

J. P. Clark to E. W. Worsham & Co., No. 50.

Will Test The Law.

Mr. E. F. Morris, L. & N. watchman at the 7th street crossing, ejected some colored women from the waiting room set apart for white people, Sunday night, and in doing so it became necessary to draw his pistol. A warrant was sworn out for his arrest, charging him with carrying a concealed deadly weapon without authority.

Mr. Morris is a regularly employed watchman, but it is claimed by the parties who swore out the warrant that he has never been sworn in as a policeman and is therefore amenable to the law for his act. The trial comes up today.

A Uniform Division.

The long-talked-of Uniform Rank of Evergreen Lodge, K. of P., was instituted on the night of the 26th inst., with 30 members. The Division will be known by the same name as the present Lodge—Evergreen. The following corps of officers were elected and installed:

Captain, H. H. Abernathy. First Lieut., L. F. Atkinson. Second Lieut., Jno. P. Campbell. Recorder, Bailey Waller.

The uniforms will be received by Sept. 12 and the Division is now drilling every night, preparing to attend the Grand Lodge meeting at Bowling Green Sept. 16.

A Big Land Sale.

A big land sale was consummated Tuesday by which the Medley estate on the Clarksville pike, consisting of 415 acres, passes into the hands of Mr. C. T. Mason, who owned 1,000 acres adjoining it. This gives Mr. Mason perhaps the finest tract of land in Southern or Western Kentucky and we doubt if there are any better farms of 1,400 acres anywhere in the State. The price paid for the Medley place, which was owned by Mr. Jas. M. Medley and sisters, was about $26,000 or $27,500 per acre. One-half of this was paid in cash and the other half in the fine farm in South Christian, known as the Maj. Tandy place, consisting of 382 acres, which was valued at a little over $34 an acre.

More About the Books.

The rottenness in the sheriff's books of 1886, which books the committee to investigate the raising of the tax lists have just finished examining, far surpasses all expectations. In 1886 the raises amounted to only $143 and it was supposed that $500 would cover the next year, but the examination shows that more than 1,900 lists were changed, the raises amounting to $1,232. With such a record as this in 1886, there is no telling what will be developed in the books of 1887 and 1888, in which years it is conceded most of the raising on a large scale was done.

The County Court committee are nearly done their branch of the work and the State's figures have been increased for every year, the total increase aggregating several hundred dollars. The total shortage for eight years now brought to light is something over $15,000, including penalties, with the individual raises for 1887 and 1888 to be added, which may bring it up to $20,000.

A Change of Constables.

Andrew J. Hord, the colored Constable in Hopkinsville No. 1, has been compelled to give up his office on account of his inability to give bond. He was first elected in 1886 and qualified June 1, 1887, and the unexpired time of his present term is a little over nine months. His bondsman for 1889 were A. H. Anderson, W. R. Long, Jno. P. Browne, C. P. Nolan and Shelby Warfield, col. The bond is an unlimited one and his bondsman for some reason notified Hord that they would not stand for him any longer and, as he could find no other responsible parties to help him out, his office was declared vacant on the 26th and Judge Winfree promptly appointed Geo. Bradley, who was Hord's opponent when he ran for the office. Mr. Bradley qualified at once with R. H. Holland and others as his bondsman. Hord was re-elected at the late election and will have an opportunity to qualify next June for a four years' term, provided he can give the bond. Perhaps, if the white Republicans happen to be in need of colored support at that time, he may be able to find some friends to help him out.

You Take No Risk

In buying Hood's Sarsaparilla, for it is everywhere recognized as the standard building-up medicine and blood purifier. It has won its way to the front by its own intrinsic merit, and has the largest sale of any preparation of its kind. Any honest druggist will confirm this statement. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy anything else instead. Be sure to get Hood's.

Church Hill Grange is on a boom. There were eight new petitions at the last meeting.

The long-talked-of shooting contest between the Hopkinsville, Cadiz and Graceland clubs will come off at the Fair Grounds to-day.

The failure of Bolivar H. Cooke & Co., of Nashville, caught the bank of Hopkinsville for $2,000, but the debt is in such a shape that the Bank will not lose it.

Yeatow Okano, the Japanese lecturer, delivered his excellent lecture, "The Paradise Beyond the Seas," at the C. P. church Tuesday evening.

Don't fail to visit at once Rogers & Elgin's store and see the finest line of Perfumes, Toilet Goods, Stationery, Pictures, School Supplies, etc., ever shown in Hopkinsville.

Dr. G. Goldstein, the celebrated optician of Louisville, will visit the city in a few days and remain several days. Notice of arrival will be given.

Dr. G. comes highly recommended and is not a stranger in the city.

Some of the finest peaches we have seen this year were raised by Miss Bettie Gwynn at her home on Main street. They are of the Indian variety and as large as a man's fist.

Mr. John Feland, Jr., one of Hopkinsville's most promising and highly respected young men, will remove to Owensboro next week for the practice of law. He will carry with him the good wishes of a host of friends in his old home.

Prof. S. L. Frogge has moved to the city and is occupying one of the handsome new Forbes cottages on Clay street. He will on next Monday enter upon his duties as County Superintendent of Schools.

John Piekford, Jr., who has been in the employ of the L. & N. for some time as ballast inspector, has been transferred to Paducah as night agent. He is a worthy young man and we are glad to note his promotion.

The Hopkinsville postoffice matter is expected to be taken up and settled within the next few days. The President has returned to Washington and as soon as Wauwauker returns from Saratoga the appointment will, in all probability, be made.

W. H. Goodall, a colored teacher in the Main street colored school, of Louisville, has failed of re-election because he voted the Democratic ticket and announced his intention of being a Democrat hereafter. The Democratic City Committee will see that he secures employment.

A Democratic Committeeman will be chosen in each precinct, at a mass meeting to be held at 2 o'clock p. m. on Saturday, Sept. 6. All Democrats who voted for Cleveland, or who are entitled to affiliate with the party, will be allowed to participate in the meetings.

Little Margaret Clarke, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. W. W. Clarke, has received from the Louisville Times one of its handsome prize tricycles, as a premium for getting up a club of subscribers. Mr. L. H. McKee's little son, Ellis, is also trying to get up a club to secure a bicycle.

The Y. W. C. T. U. will set a supper at Anderson's hall, on 7th street, to-night. "Little Jack Horner's Christmas Pies," a plan for everybody, will be one of the prominent features of the evening. Cakes and pies of all kinds in abundance, and 25 cents will be charged.

Mr. G. W. Southall, of Newstead, has been appointed State Superintendent of the Colored Farmers' and Laborers' Unions of Kentucky, at a handsome salary. His duties do not include the organization of new sub-unions, but a general supervision of those already organized.

Mr. A. D. Rodgers, manager of the Opera House, Secretary of the Fair Company and book-keeper for the Eugene Mills, has decided to remove to Henderson after the Fair to accept a position with E. G. Sebree. Mr. Rodgers was born and raised in this city and enjoys the respect and esteem of all our people. It is with much regret the Kentuckian notes his intended departure.

Mrs. Maggie M. Hudgins, of Warrenton, North Carolina, opened school at Casky, Ky., Monday morning with 23 day pupils and 5 music scholars, with others to follow in a few days. She has been teaching at that place for the last two years and is a very highly accomplished and estimable lady and withal a fine educator, who is held in high esteem by all her patrons. She has again taken board at Esq. G. W. Winfree's.

Corn thieves are now devastating late "roasting ear patches" and greatly annoying farmers near town. A few ounces of lead properly inserted into the anatomy of these pest thieves would have a very salutary effect. Some years ago a negro was killed while stealing corn from a field near the city, and it had a good effect for a long time afterwards. With burglars and thieves getting in their work almost every night, it behooves property owners to watch out for them with deadly weapons and if necessary shoot to kill.

The Pembroke Losses.

The latest estimates of the losses by the fire at Pembroke Sunday morning are as follows:

W. W. & J. P. Carnett, $3,000, fully insured.

Downey & Jernigan, $2,500, fully covered.

J. R. Finch, $1,500, fully insured.

J. P. Bragg, damage to stock, $500, insured.

J. E. Waugh, $300, insured.

E. J. Murphy, machines, etc., $800, not insured.

G. H. Smith, $250, in moving, insured.

M. G. Miller, $3,000, partially insured.

W. D. Garnett, $800, not insured.

McGhee Bros., damages, $250, insured.

The fire originated in the postoffice building and was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. It was first seen by a colored man at 3:30 o'clock, who aroused the clerks, but it was too late to save much of the stocks.

Most of the merchants will rebuild at once. It will be seen that the losses foot up only about $13,000, several thousands less than at first estimated.

Every tissue of the body, every nerve, bone and muscle is made stronger and more healthy by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

John Henry Route, who recently served a term in the Work House for stealing corn, was waited upon by a party of unknown persons Saturday night and warned to leave the community. His house was fired into with guns and pistols and besieged with rocks and clubs until Route, who was inside, howled for mercy, believing he was about to be murdered. His visitors finally left without doing him personal violence, further than scaring him almost to death, but Route was warned to make himself scarce about Hopkinsville. The Kentuckian does not approve of such lawless methods to impress upon such characters that they are unpopular, but Route is a notorious rogue and the city can get along first-rate without him. It is to be hoped Henry will take the hint and emigrate.

A GOOD THING!

To our friends and customers: We are pleased to inform you that we now have a sure cure for chills, which is perfectly sweet. It has no taste at all. It will cure any case of Chills. Quit taking the bitter Chills Tonic, and let us sell you a bottle of Pomroy's Sweet Chills Cure! Price 50 cents. One bottle holds enough to cure two or three cases of Chills. Come and let us show it to you. Your Friend, BUCKNER LEAVELL, Hopkinsville, Ky.

Col. Brown has already been offered a handsome profit on his new house and lot on North Main street, purchased last week.

Warning.

All persons are hereby warned and notified not to trade for or buy a certain instrument of writing signed by me and in favor of W. E. Embury, conveying to him my interest in the estate of Alex. Tribble, dec'd., as the said signature was obtained by threats and fear of personal violence.

Aug. 26, 1890. M. B. ROBINSON.

Johnny McCord, a student of Lombard University, will preach at the Universalist church this evening at 7:45. All are invited.
